

PARTNERS of the AMERICAS

Connect • Serve • Change Lives

Instructors of English from Belo Horizonte, Minas Gerais, Brazil visit the one room school in Greeley's Centennial Village to experience changes in teaching methods.

Young Eco Leaders of the Atlantic Forest

The Partners of America Colorado Chapter, along with other generous groups, support Iracambi's Young Eco Leaders project in the Brazilian rainforest. Each group of local school children visits the Iracambi Research Center regularly for scientific discovery: to monitor water volume and quality, to plant and care for rainforest tree seedlings, to test soils in different study sites, to record weather data, and to learn about GIS mapping, data storage, and analysis.

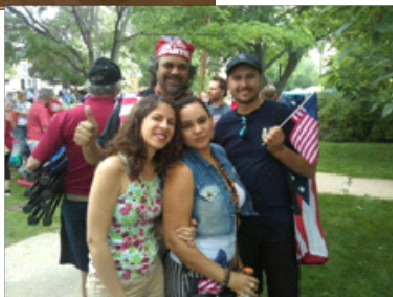

Greeley Multicultural Festival

Using a prize winning booths the Colorado Chapter connects with community and international groups at the Greeley Multicultural Festival. Participants have fun wearing colors representing Brazil.

Who We Are . . .

Creative cultural activities supplement the Aims Community College class work for the TRIP program (Teacher Readiness Improvement Pedagogy). Since 2015, 31 participants have traveled to Colorado from South America for month long workshops teaching English teachers how to improve their skills.

Partners of the Americas

is an international grassroots network, a legacy that empowers, to connect volunteers, institutions, and communities to serve and change lives

Partners of the Americas, the people-to-people component of John F. Kennedy's Alliance for Progress, launched in 1965. Chapters are linked in partnerships between the United States and countries of Latin America and the Caribbean. Volunteer members discover benefits with short-term commitments spanning geographical and age boundaries.

Supporting Education and Cultural exchanges, Diamantina Youth Orchestra members performed Brazilian music in Denver, Boulder, and Greeley, linking talented musicians from an historic city in Minas Gerais, Brazil to educational events in Colorado.
